1 UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT 2 IN AND FOR THE DISTRICT OF ARIZONA 3 4 WILLETTA, L.L.C., Chapter 11 proceedings 5 Case No. 2:09-bk-11977-CGC Debtor. 6 UNDER ADVISEMENT DECISION 7 RE: MOTION FOR RELIEF FROM STAY 8 9 10 I. Introduction 11 12 Willetta, L.L.C. (the "Debtor") holds a single property, located at 2801 North Willetta Street, Phoenix, Arizona 85009 (the "Property"). Bank of the West ("BOTW") is the senior 13 14 secured creditor on the Property. 15 BOTW moves for relief from automatic stay under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1) and (2) so that 16 it can foreclose on the Property. BOTW claims that it is not adequately protected ((d)(1)), and 17 that there is no equity in the Property and the Property is not necessary for a successful reorganization ((d)(2)). The Debtor opposes BOTW's motion, urging that that the Property is 18 19 necessary for a successful reorganization and that a plan for reorganization can be confirmed 20 within a reasonable time. The Debtor also asserts that BOTW is adequately protected because 21 the Debtor has been making payments to BOTW post-petition and will continue to do so

II. Facts

throughout the life of any plan for reorganization.

The Debtor borrowed $920,000 from Western National Bank ("WNB") on May, 22, 2006. The Debtor executed and delivered a promissory note, executed a deed of trust encumbering the Property and executed an assignment of rents to WNB. On November 21, 2006, WNB assigned its interest in the Property to BOTW.

A single tenant rents the Property and provides the Debtor with its sole source of income through monthly rent payments of $12,800. The rent payments are scheduled to increase on December 1st of each year. Rent increases to: $16,400 in 2009, $16,740 in 2010, $17,080 in 2011, and $17,420 in 2012. The tenant's lease expires on November 30, 2013.

The Debtor failed to make timely payments to BOTW starting on February 22, 2008, but has since paid some late fees and catch-up payments. On February 27, 2009, BOTW issued its final demand for payment of $891,144.52 in principal remaining on the note and $34,866.20 in accrued interest. In addition to BOTW's lien, the Small Business Administration ("SBA") holds a second lien on the Property for $627,268.52. Moreover, there is a lien of $38,993.05 held by Maricopa County for unpaid property taxes. According to testimony from the Debtor's principal, the Property currently has an approximate value of $1 million and the Debtor currently has approximately $34,319 in cash reserves. For the purposes of this motion, BOTW does not contest this value.

The Debtor filed for bankruptcy on June 1, 2009 and filed its First Amended Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the "Plan") on September 25, 2009. According to the Plan, the Debtor will: (1) cure all past due taxes and payments to BOTW upon confirmation; (2) pay $11,943 in property taxes a quarter; (3) pay BOTW the note amount, $7,367 per month, commencing on September 22, 2009; (4) pay unsecured creditors $10,284 a quarter beginning three months after the effective date; (5) pay $2,672 a month in various other expenses associated with the Property; and (6) pay $160 a month in trustee fees. The Plan treats SBA as being totally unsecured, and the payments under the Plan, if made, will satisfy approximately 20 percent of SBA's claim. Moreover, under the Plan, the Debtor's principal will infuse $10,000 of capital into the Debtor through $2,500 quarterly payments over the course of a year.

III. Analysis

A. The Motion for Relief from Stay

The Court declines to terminate the automatic stay but will condition its continued effect as set forth in this memorandum. At bottom, the Debtor must provide adequate protection payments pending confirmation of the Plan and the Plan must be confirmed within 120 days.

Under 11 U.S.C. § 362(d), a motion for relief from automatic stay will be granted by terminating, modifying, or conditioning such stay either (1) "for cause, including the lack of adequate protection of an interest in property of such party in interest;" or (2) the debtor has no equity in the property and the "property is not necessary to an effective reorganization." 11 U.S.C. § 362(d)(1), (2). These two provisions are disjunctive; only one is required to lift the stay. In re Sun Valley Ranches, Inc., 823 F.2d 1373, 1376 (9th Cir. 1987). Further, "section 362 gives the bankruptcy court wide latitude in crafting relief from the automatic stay." In re Delaney-Morin, 304 B.R. 365, 369 (9th Cir. BAP 2003). Under § 362(g), the secured creditor has the burden of proof on the issue of a debtor's equity in a property. A debtor carries the burden on all other issues, including whether there is a reasonable possibility of a successful reorganization within a reasonable period of time. See, e.g., In re Development, Inc., 36 B.R. 998, 1005 (Bank.D.Haw.1984); see also In re Sun Valley Ranches, Inc., 823 F.2d at 1376 (stating that besides the issue of the debtor's equity in the property, the burden of proof lies with the debtor).

A creditor must show that a debtor lacks equity in the property, and under § 362(d)(2)(A) equity is "the difference between the property value and the total amount of liens against it." Stewart v. Gurley, 745 F.2d 1194, 1195 (9th Cir. 1984). Particularly, equity is the "value, above all secured claims against the property that can be realized from the sale of the property for the benefit of all unsecured creditors." Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1400 n. 2 (9th Cir. 1984). Here, there is no dispute in the Debtor's lack of equity in the Property. The Debtor's principal testified that the Property currently has an approximate value of $1 million. The secured lien held by BOTW has $891,144.54 in remaining principal plus $34,866.20 in accrued interest. There is also a lien for $38,993.05 in unpaid property taxes and SBA has a junior lien of $627,268.52. As the value of all the liens against the Property is well above $1 million, the Debtor has no equity in the Property.

Nevertheless, to lift the stay the Court must find that the Property is not necessary for an effective reorganization under § 362(d)(2)(B). As it is the Debtor's sole property, it is certainly necessary to reorganization; the question remains whether such reorganization would be effective.

Thus, the key issue is whether the Debtor meets the "effective reorganization" requirement. A debtor must show that there is "a reasonable possibility of an effective reorganization within a reasonable time." In re Timbers of Inwood Forest Assoc., Ltd., 484 U.S. 365, 375-76 (1988). A relief from stay hearing should not be converted into a confirmation hearing under the "effective reorganization" requirement, but a debtor must show that "a proposed or contemplated plan is not patently unconfirmable and has a realistic chance of being confirmed." In re Sun Valley Newspapers, Inc., 171 B.R. 71, 75 (9th Cir. BAP 1994) (quoting John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. v. Route 37 Bus. Park Assoc., 987 F.2d 154, 157 (3d Cir. 1993)). The burden is a "moving target" that gets more difficult to prove as the bankruptcy case progresses. Id. (quoting In re Holly's Inc., 140 B.R. 643, 700 (Bankr.W.D.Mich. 1992)). The relief from stay should be granted if reorganization of the business is not feasible or because creditor dissent makes a successful plan unlikely. See Timbers of Inwood, 484 U.S. at 375-76.

Here, the Debtor just meets the low threshold to show that the Plan is not facially unconfirmable. Under the Plan, the Debtor is projected to have a slight amount of cash reserves at the end of every month until the tenant's lease expires on November 30, 2013. The rent is $12,800 until November 30, 2009, but increases each December to: $16,400 in 2009; $16,740 in 2010; $17,080 in 2011; and $17,420 in 2012. Along with the rent payments, the Debtor currently has approximately $34,319 in cash reserves, and the Debtor's principal plans to infuse $10,000 through quarterly payments of $2,500 over the course of the first year. The five-year Plan proposes continuing payments to BOTW under the Debtor's obligation through monthly payments of $7,367. Also, the Debtor will pay $2,672 a month in other expenses associated with the Property and $160 a month is trustee fees. Quarterly, the Debtor will pay $11,943 in property taxes and $10,284 to unsecured creditors, including SBA. Exhibit "A" is a spreadsheet based on the projected payments and income listed above and shows that if all goes as planned the Debtor will have a positive amount of cash remaining at the end of every month through the fourth year of the Plan. Therefore, at this time the Plan is not patently unfeasible; thus the Debtor has carried its burden under § 362(d)(2)(B) and the Timbers effective reorganization requirement.

Alternatively, the stay could be lifted under § 362(d)(1) if there was "cause," including if BOTW's interest in the Property was not adequately protected. "Because there is no clear definition of what constitutes 'cause,' discretionary relief from the stay must be determined on a case by case basis." In re Delanev-Morin, 304 B.R. at 369 (quoting MacDonald v. MacDonald (In re MacDonald), 755 F.2d 715, 717 (9th Cir. 1985)). "The purpose of adequate protection under § 361 is to insure that the secured creditor receives in value essentially what [it] bargained for." Pistole v. Mellor (In re Mellor), 734 F.2d 1396, 1401 (9th Cir. 1984). Essentially, "[s]ecured creditors should not be deprived of the benefit of their bargain." In re Am. Mariner Indus., Inc., 734 F.2d 426, 431 (9th Cir. 1984) (effectively overruled on other grounds by Timbers of Inwood, 484 U.S. at 368). There are three non-exclusive examples of adequate protection in § 361: (1) periodic cash payments equivalent to the decrease in value on an interest in the property; (2) "an additional or replacement lien on other property"; and (3) any "other relief that that provides the indubitable equivalent" to the secured creditor's interest in the property. In re Mellor, 734 F.2d at 1400 (citing In re Curtis, 9 B.R. 110, 111-12) (B.Ct.E.D.Penn. 1981)). The last example, § 361(3), is essentially a "catch-all" provision. Am. Mariner, 734 F.2d at 432.

Here, the Debtor is providing adequate protection to BOTW through monthly payments under its obligation. These payments are not the equivalent to any decrease in value of BOTW's interest in the Property, but are the amount called for per month under the Debtor's obligation to BOTW. While adequate protection is not limited to the three examples set forth above, the payments, in effect, fall within the "catch-all" provision of § 361(3). As long as the Debtor continues to make the payments, BOTW will be receiving essentially what it bargained for, satisfying the requirements of adequate protection. Thus, there is no "cause" under § 362(d)(1) to lift the automatic stay at this time. BOTW is adequately protected until the Plan can be confirmed.

B. Plan Confirmation

While the Plan is not facially unfeasible, several issues could derail confirmation, including, but not limited to:

- (1) The Plan lasts five years, however, the sole tenant's lease expires in four years and there is no prospect for income to the Debtor in the final year of the Plan. See 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(11) (stating that liquidation or the need for further reorganization cannot be "likely" after the confirmation of the plan). But see In re Patrician St. Joseph Partners, 169 B.R. 669, 674 (D.Ariz. 1994) ("The prospect of financial uncertainty does not defeat plan confirmation on feasibility grounds since a guarantee of the future is not required.").
- (2) The Plan will not fully satisfy the obligation to BOTW and the Debtor has not shown that it can refinance or pay off the loan when the Plan is completed. See 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(11).
- (3) The Debtor has not provided for a contingency to get the Plan confirmed if SBA objects to its confirmation. See 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(8) (requiring that impaired creditors accept the plan for it to be confirmed); § 1129(a)(10) (requiring that at least one class of impaired creditor accept the plan for it to be eligible for a judicial "cramdown"); see generally § 1129(b), et. seq. (outlining the requirements for judicial "cramdown" of a plan over the objection of an impaired class of creditors).
- (4) The Plan calls for the Debtor's principal to infuse $10,000, but the principal has not proven any financial ability to do so, nor has the Debtor shown that this infusion of capital will satisfy the new value exception to the absolute priority rule in the event the unsecured class rejects. See 11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(B)(ii) (giving the absolute priority rule); Bank of Am. Nat'l Trust and Sav. Ass'n v. 203 N. LaSalle St. P'ship, 526 U.S. 434, 458 (1999) (assuming a new value corollary to the absolute priority rule and holding that the absolute priority rule prohibits junior interest holders from being granted an exclusive opportunity to purchase a new interest in the reorganized entity).

These issues, and possibly other issues, must be adequately addressed before the Plan can be confirmed.

IV. Conclusion

The Debtor must keep BOTW adequately protected by continuing to make monthly payments under the obligation. By making the payments, the Debtor will have the chance to get the Plan confirmed. Accordingly, the stay will not be lifted at this time. The Debtor has 120 days, a fair period, to ensure that the Plan will be confirmed.

The Debtor's counsel is to submit a form of order consistent with this decision and the October 26, 2009 Minute Entry.
